Tackle Employment Conflict of Interest Pitfalls as an Immigrant Worker

Many Chinese Americans are knowledge workers that face a dilemma: on one hand, we are American citizens that believe in the American dream – work hard and be successful; on the other hand, we have many family, cultural and economic ties in China.

The past few years have seen an increasing number of Chinese Americans wrongfully indicted or penalized by employers due to the fact they are Chinese Americans. Two recent prominent examples include Dr. Xiaoxin Xi, Professor of Physics at Temple University, and Ms. Sherry Chen, formerly hydrologist at National Weather Service.

How can we prevent this kind of mishaps from happening to any of us again?

OCAA, OCS and Committee 100 have invited Ms. Sherry Chen to provide perspectives and tips from her experience, and employment/immigration law attorney Ms. Roxi Liming, partner at the law firm of Adams & Liming, LLC to provide advice from a legal standpoint.

This seminar is FREE and open to the public.

When: February 12, 2017, 2:00 – 3:30 pm
Where: 935 Northridge Rd. Columbus OH 43224
